

Broadband however it is handled should be without interference to others, a good neighbor policy should be mandated that it shall not interfere. when looking at power line access to broadband we should be looking to areas that have buried line only, only areas where interference would not happen.. thank you David Culver